DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Art Unit: 1722

4. Claims 1-6, and 8-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Beglinger (4687434) in view of Chou (5772905).

Beglinger teaches an apparatus having a surface (41) with plungers (59, 60) that are movable in a direction and having actuating means (pressure being from the from the actuator 57 acting upon the plungers).

Beglinger fails to teach imprint lithography.

However, it is pressing and shaping a material and Beglinger is similar in this regard in molding and a material having a shaped surface.

Chou teaches an apparatus and method for creating lithographic patterns by having a top and bottom surface for imprint lithography with a downward plunger having an actuating means (60) with the desired features and made from a silicon substrate (16) for the top plunger.

In regards to the distance apart for the plungers, the apparatus of Beglinger could have the plunger be only space apart by 0.5 to 2 micrometres apart.

It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Chou with the bottom plunger being actuated in the vertical direction as taught by Matey because it allows for both plungers to move towards another.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claim 7 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Art Unit: 1722

6. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The prior art of record fails to teach the plunger wafer and capping wafer as defined by the specification in relation to the template for imprint lithography and the plungers.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Rossetti (4325779), Greschner (5427599), Mueller (5993189), Takakuwa (6280661), Springer (6416311) and Birch (6656398).
